Council this Month

North Lougheed Study Area Land Use Plan Moves Ahead

Council has endorsed the revised North Lougheed Study Area (NLSA) Plan as a guide for the creation of a cohesive mixed-use community development on the north side of Lougheed Highway. The City will now apply for an amendment to Metro Vancouver's Regional Growth Strategy to accommodate the new land use plan and update the Official Community Plan (OCP). Learn more at pittmeadows.ca/nlsa.

Reopening Select Facilities

The City has reopened its sports fields, arena and BMX track to organized sports groups for summer rentals with new protocols in place to protect public health. Other City facilities are undergoing risk assessments and will likely not be reopening until September at the earliest. For updates, visit pittmeadows.ca/covid19.

Adoption of the Official Community Plan

After over two years of extensive engagement to draft the new Official Community Plan (OCP), the project is moving into the final adoption phase. The first reading of the new OCP took place on July 21 and a public hearing will take place in the fall, where everyone who wishes to speak will be heard by Council prior to their final decision. The City would like to thank the community for their input throughout this project. Learn more at pittmeadows.ca/ocp.
